With more than 65,000 veterans in Contra Costa County, each one of those is at the center of a circle of family and friends impacted by their military service. Too often, the needs, concerns and available services for those family members are forgotten. It doesn't have to be that way, and east bay veterans and their families are invited to tune in to Contra Costa Television (CCTV) at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, June 15, to find support and information.

Join us for our next edition of the live television and webcast talk show "Veterans' Voices." During Monday's episode, you'll hear firsthand from Blue Star Moms, as well as family readiness experts who can assist with understanding the needs of military service families.

Join our host Nathan Johnson, Contra Costa County's Veterans Service Officer, for a very special show that reminds us how much family support can mean to veterans. We bring Veterans' Voices to you on multiple platforms, and offer many ways for you to participate. You can watch on TV or online, and we welcome your questions and comments both during and after the show.

Coming soon, we'll be beginning to plan a show highlighting Vietnam era veterans; if you served during that conflict and want to share your story of your service or return to civilian life, please drop us a note at veteransvoices@contracostatv.org.

The show is a joint production of the Contra Costa County Veterans Service Office and Contra Costa Television (CCTV.) It is underwritten by a grant from the California Department of Veterans Affairs. "Veterans' Voices" airs the third Monday of each month at 7:00 p.m. on CCTV, which can be found on Comcast Channel 27, Astound Channel 32 and AT&T U-Verse Channel 99 throughout Contra Costa County. Catch prior shows or watch the show live online by visiting: <http://www.contracostatv.org/veteransvoices>.
